

CALHOUN COUNTY PUBLIC HEALTH DEPARTMENT THE FOOD SAFETY CLASS

The food safety class is offered by the Calhoun County Public Health Department. This class provides practical information on food storage, handling, preparation, safe food temperatures, serving, leftovers, cleaning, food borne illness, and many other current topics. The class consists of a PowerPoint presentation, practical hands-on exercises, question and answer time, and an exam. Individuals passing the exam will receive a Safe Food Handler's certificate.

WHERE AND WHEN

Battle Creek - Class will be held on the 2nd Tuesday of each month at the Health Department located in the Toeller Building, 190 E. Michigan Ave., Battle Creek. The building is across the street from the #1 Fire Station and the Court/Jail Complex (Justice Center). The class is held from 8 am – 12 Noon. Please bring note-taking materials.

There is a $30 fee per person including all handouts and materials. Payment is required prior to class to reserve your place. Payment can be made over the phone with your credit card or by mailing in the bottom of this form with a check payable to CCPHD. Cash payment requires the exact amount, as we do not carry change. Early registration is recommended. If you are unable to attend and would like to transfer your registration to another class date, a 48 hour notice must be given to CCPHD to transfer. Upon successful completion of the class, the certificate will be awarded.

BUY A SUBSCRIPTION

As a special incentive, a special rate of $250 per Calhoun County facility/company is offered. This fee will allow an unlimited number of people from that facility to attend a regularly scheduled food safety class at no additional charge for a 12-month period. We anticipate this will help satisfy your need for orienting new employees to the principles of safe food handling.

REGISTER

Once you have a subscription, please call before attending any class to reserve a spot: (269) 969-6341. If you are not a subscriber, payment is required prior to reserving your place on the schedule.

We at the Calhoun County Public Health Department firmly believe that attending a food safety course does make a difference. It is our goal to have someone in each facility trained in food safety and sanitation.
